WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 27.

Death of Governor McDowell. Tidings have been received in this city of the death of the Honorable JAMES McDowell, lete Representative in the Congress of the United States from the eleventh district of Virginia. He died at his residence near Lexington, on Sunday last. He was a man greatly beloved in the walks of private life; his district and State were ever proud to honor him; and hearkened to with profound attention and respect. A good man, a statesman and a patriot, his influence has been felt upon our country,

CUBAN NEWS LOOKED FOR .- All the newspapers we receive have "additional items" concerning Cuba. We are less fortunate, and continue to look forward with painful apprehensions for further authentic accounts. That Lopez and his companions have been foiled we feel very sure; that they have been taken prisoners is probable; and, if so, that they have been put to death in the most cruel manner, and without due course of procedure, is cer-

The New York Herald has a Havana letter, dated the 17th, in which it is stated that the pilot of the Spanish steamer Pizarro, "in taking her into Bahia Honda, happened to get her cer in command of the troops, drew his sword, and split the pilot's head open at one blow, and report says killed him instantly. In endeavoring to back the vessel off, some part of the engine gave out. The engineer was immediately put under arrest, and it is believed that he has been shot. The ship is now a wreck, as there came on a heavy blow, and report says she

All we can say to this is, that the story is very probable.

THE CUBAN NEWS .- The direct and western telegraph lines to New Orleans are both out of order, and have been so for eleven days, excepting a part of one day last week.

It appears that the Spanish Consul at New Orleans claimed the protection of the American flag, and was therefore placed in jail as a place of greatest safety. A despatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer, dated New Orleans, August 22, says:

"The Empire City brought the remains of ment at Havana, to this city. A deep feeling of awe pervades the whole community. Thou-sands of people endeavored to get a sight of the coffins containing their dead bodies. This gave rise to the sudden outbreak last night. Minute guns have been fired since sunrise in honor of he murdered Liberators.

"The attack on the office of the Spanish Consul was caused by a report (which is un-doubtedly true) that he received by the Empire City letters from some of the murdered Americans, and refused to give them up when de-manded by their friends."

The fifty men who were executed, it is said by one account, were engaged in a flank movement in conjunction with Lopez, when they were captured by the steamer Habanero.

LATE AND IMPORTANT FROM HAVANA .- Despatches from New Orleans state that Havana dates have been received there to the 18th, giving information that Lopez had been "routed and captured;" that every thing was quiet, and that active preparations were being made to repel any future attacks.

These despatches were to the Baltimore Sun to-day. We have nothing direct.

the land which he owns adjoining Chicago The Chicago Democrat gives a description of the plan of the buildings and grounds, piazzas, columns, jet d'eaux, artificial fountains, &c. The Democrat says it is intended as a retreat from the cares and vexations of public life for the Senator, who is said to be one of the wealthiest men in the State.

THE TERPSICHOREAN CLUB will unite in a Pic-NIC at Arlington to-morrow.

THE TRUE SENTIMENT .- The Richmond Republican, though averse to the conquest of Cuba by our Government or people, cannot brook the wrong and inhumanity practised by the Spanish tyrants of that Island, and exclaims: "It is the glory of England that she protects the humblest of her subjects in foreign lands with the strong shield of her national power. Every nation should follow her example, which would secure the respect of the world and the affections of its own citizens."

Certainly those men who have once been recovered from intemperance, and gone down to that wretched habit again, should be well acquainted with the terrible and disgusting results of grog-drinking. So we read somewhere.

The writer of the following letter is young rigorous, enterprising, hoping, and well inclined to take the world as it is. It may be proper for us to say that he is one in whose word we would place confidence under all circumstances. "San Francisco, July 12, 1851. "Health is a blessing that every one enjoys here; for if ever there was a healthy spot on earth I believe this to be it. I receive $250 month, and my expenses, board, lodging and clothing, come to $80 at most. I send home in the councils of the nation his voice was ever $150 each month. I will have paid $963 in six months from the time of my arrival here, which is doing pretty well; but had I about $1,500 or $2,000 I would not want a better chance to make a fortune. I had an opportunity last week and his memory will in all future time be trea-sured with grateful reverence. ance in six months with interest of three per cent. a month. The house rents for $300 a month, and would pay for itself in six months. I had no money, so I had to give the chance to a friend. I can loan money on undoubted secu-rity at eight per cent. a month, and sometimes at twelve per cent. But the best plan is to buy ground and water lots and rent them; they always pay from one to two hundred per cent. a year in rent, and perfectly secure, the rent being payable monthly in advance. My roommate rented a piece of ground, fifteen feet front, by forty feet deep, for $160 a month, and put up a frame store for $650, and rented the whole for $275 a month. You can form no idea of the wealth of some of our citizens. Capt. Folson of the army has a rental of $48,000 a month; two years ago he was poor; he made it from re-investing; his income will be at least $1,000,000 aground at the entrance of the harbor. As a year in two years. Property not paying at soon as she struck, the commander, or the officer in command of the troops, drew his sword, unworthy to hold. Men having means make large fortunes without knowing how. Mercantile af-fairs at present are dull, especially retailing. The Jews are beginning to find out this is not Jerusalem and are backing out, so as to give honest people a chance. Clothing is as cheap as in New York. We have the finest beef in the world, and any quantity of it. In fact, every thing in the provision line is not only plentiful, but cheap, excepting butter, eggs, and barnyard fowls. Wild fowls are plentiful at $24 to $36 a dozen; eggs 2½ to $3 do.; butter from 50 to 75 cents per pound; carpenters 6 to $10 a day; bricklayers 10 to $12 a day; laborers from 3 to $6, but living, except houserent, cheap; wood $16 a cord, and scarce at that; and now, after a man makes his pile, in-stead of going east let him stay here and in Sonoma or Napa or San Jose valley, buy a farm, and all he would have to do would be to live a life of enjoyment in the most delightful climate this side of Eden; and as for dying, that they will not do, but dry up and blow away. Some of them own up to one hundred and twenty years now, but I believe they have forgotten to keep count, for they look about the gills like a "The Empire City brought the remains of Colonel Crittenden (nephew of Attorney-General Crittenden) and Captain Victor Kerr, who were so inhumanly murdered by the Spanish governation of the Crittenden of San Rafael, and there I saw some trees that beat any thing you there I saw some trees that beat any thing you can imagine; one I measured the girdle of, and it measured forty-eight feet, being perfectly round and sound; it would make a single board of fifteen and a half feet wide, without the bark; so it is with every thing in the country, all on an extensive scale. A RELIC .- Mr. John Young, of Cincinnati has in his possession a silver watch, which is said to have been the property of Gen. Washington. It is of German manufacture, heavy and coarse in workmanship-very thick and durable cases—and on the inner case is en-graved "G. W., 1783." It is stated that the watch was given by Washington to a Mr. Clayton, as a testimonial of regard.—Exchange.

We have in our possession a copper cent made in 1783, the same date as above. It is thinner and more brasslike than the modern cent, and in artistic execution compares favorably with them. "Washington and Independence" is the inscription surrounding the head of liberty.

RELIGION IN NEW ORLEANS .- The city correspondent of the Baton Rouge Gazette has the following statistics of religion in New Orleans: "The number of members in the Presbyterian church amount to one thousand. The Episcopalians, six hundred and forty-four. The Methodists, nine hundred and sixteen whites, and fifteen hundred blacks. The Congregationalists, (Clapp.) number two hundred and seventy-two. The Baptists, one hundred whites sides, and the latter especially predominated and five hundred blacks. The Christians, also, reach one hundred. Mr. Krushet, the secretary of the Jewish synagogue, informed me that they number two thousand five hundred con-tributing members, and that there were three thousand in the city. The Lutherans number two hundred. In conversation with his reverence, Archbishop Blanc, he informed me that they count sixty-five thousand nominal mem-bers, and nine thousand actual communican'ts."

James D. Harrow.—Died in this place, on Thursday night last, James D. Harrow, esq., for upwards of thirty years the editor of the Virginia Herald. The Herald is the oldest paper in Virginia, and we believe about the second or third oldest in the United States. It was established in the last century, shortly we think after the Revolution. Early in the present sentury Mr. H. became connected with it, and several years anterior to owning it he was a joint publisher. Bred a printer, Mr. Harrow's pride was in neat and handsome typography, which was always furnished in the columns of the Herald.

As an individual or an editor the deceased had no enemies. Most quiet and unobtrusive he passed through life, infringing on no one's rights, and no one disposed to trespass on his. Remarkable for taciturnity, he never gave of-fence. He wrote but little, and that little never offensive or tinged with personality. For many years he was a member of the Presbyteria shurch and lived a christian life. bachelor in the sixtieth year of his age, with many near relations to mourn his death.

EDITORS' CORRESPONDENCE

THE PERSON NAMED IN

To the Editors of the American Telegraph. GENTLEMEN: Having observed a recent para graph in a New York paper making complimentary notice of an eminent Wall-street broker, the propriety is suggested of offering a few remarks, through your journal, in reference to banking-house of Corcoran & Riggs. He was reared, I believe, in this District, and has known what it is to be a poor boy. The star of his pecuniary prosperity does not seem, indeed, to have arisen till about a dozen years back, at which period he was not probably worth five thousand dollars. I have no accurate information as to his present estate, but suppose it to be not far from a million of dollars. This rapid accumulation of wealth many will be disposed to ascribe to luck, or to extraordinary facilities for the investment of his funds—it being understood that a large portion of his fortune has been the result of successful transactions in government securities. Yet, as other capitalists, here and elsewhere, were offered the same field for speculation, and failed to exercise equal sagacity or enterprise, it seems but justice to attribute his success, in no small degree, to his superior skill and judgment in financial matters.

for our contemplated coal trade.

The packet Delaware left this results in the packet Delaware left this results. In his capacity as a banker he reaches his con-clusions—which are judicious, and expressed in a mode indicating but little ground for expecta-tion that they will be altered—by a sort of in-tuition, as they are usually pronounced at the termination of a single rapid perusal of the paper presented. The operations of this house are transacted exclusively in specie, or its equiv-

For the information of your distant readers I will state, that Mr. C. is apparently about fifty years of age, stout built, healthy, and rather near-sighted. His manners are cheerful, dignified and polished, and his integrity of the highest order.

What is peculiarly creditable to him is the generous use he makes of a considerable portion of his gains. He does not, as is too often obervable of wealthy men, hoard up and watch with miserly vigilance his profits, but con-tributes of them freely to needy objects deemed by him promotive of charity, indigent talent, literature, or the adornment of Washington and Georgetown. His recent purchase of a small tract of land near the latter place, at a cost including improvements and decorations) of (including improvements and decorations) of about $50,000, to be donated to the latter, his native place, for the purposes of a cemetery, will remain a perpetual proof of his comprehensive liberality. Other instances of his benevolence, of a less extensive but more touching description, might be specified, if either the occasion or his views of propriety would permit a record of them here. As, however, he pre-fers lending his aid to objects of a public and enduring, rather than to those of an individual haracter, (to gratify which would frequently be to encourage idleness and extravagance;) and as he is, I learn, daily beset by numerous applications of the latter class, he has, necessa rily, to give occasional refusals to them Washington, Aug. 26, 1851. O.

To the Editors of the American Telegraph. GENTLEMEN: In the leading editorial of your nteresting paper of yesterday, you have done no more than full justice to the position of the National Intelligencer, of this city. You are surprised, Messrs. Editors, no doubt, that so distinguished and able a writer as Mr. Gales proves himself to be on all subjects, has no affinity of sentiment for struggling liberty in any part of the world. His voice was raised loud and lofty against Andrew Jackson, on the celebrated French Indemnity bill. Equally potential did he speak of the injustice done to Mexico, on Texas and her admission; so, also, during the late war; and even now, his fellow citizens may be shot down in cold blood, and all his sympathy is still expressed for the rights of Spain, whose tyranny is carried out by a Colo-nial Governor, in the murder of American citizens. True, they are engaged in a desperate cause, and in a fearful contest; yet, as they the rest but a few of the criminal lawyers. I contend for liberty, they should at least have the good wishes of Americans that they may be successful. But not so with Mr. Gales: all his good wishes are on the side of monarchy, the rotten, prostituted monarchy of Spain, and her tyrant Governor. But we trust the liberal press of the land may follow the example of your noble Telegraph, and read to Mr. G. a lesson such as will convince him that, if he has any sympathy for the monarchy of Spain, he stands quite alone, as he has done heretofore, in opposing the promulgation of the "largest liberty" of Middleburg, Va.

Banners with bloody mottoes were distributed amongst the crowd, and every means used to increase the feeling of resentment against the Cuban authorities Cheers, screams and groans were heard on all when the Courier, Express and Tribune papers were alluded to. One of the speakers, in the midst of a violent harangue, begged the listeners to do nothing rashly, and especially deprecated the attempt to molest the Spanish Consul, as had been threatened. "His office," said he, "is at 119 Leonard street, but don't, my friends, do any thing unlawful."

After his speech the sympathizers formed a procession, headed by a band of music, and proceeded up Broadway, in the direction of Leonard street, hooting, yelling and threatening vengeance. The Spanish Consul kept out of thre way, understanding that a coat of tar and feathers had been propared for him in consequence of threats directed against La Chronicle, the Spanish paper. An extra police of three hundred men has been stationed there.

GEORGETOWN AND ITS AFFAIRS.

GEORGETOWN, August 27-12 m. This is the dull season of the year and many our citizens are absent, seeking amidst the luxuries and gaiety of the watering-places to pass the August heat with pleasure to themselves. But the late change of temperature in the air and Walnut streets. W. W. Corcoran, esq., the senior partner in the will cause many of them to turn their faces homeward, and prepare to gather around the more substantial comforts that home always presents.

Owing to the low prices that all grain brings at this time, our heavy fall trade has not yet opened-the farmers being unwilling to dispose of the "sweat of their brow" at rates one-third less than they usually command at this season.

I am happy to observe, amidst the quiet that reigns, our fellow-citizen, Peter Berry, continues prosecuting, with activity, his new wharf. He has now about three hundred hands, with ploughs and carts, executing their respective duties, and I hope not many weeks will elapse before we will have one, if not more, wharves

This route I think is destined to be much traveled on account of its cheapness, it being about one-half of that upon the railroad, and most persons from this District, not pressed for time, will take it.

In other words, that the Intelligencer must not be taken as an exponent of American sentiment; but as an exponent of defence for "kings, lords and commons," and all their pernicious principles, so perseveringly adhered to, to oppress and grind the people. Baltimore, July 18, 1851.

Messys. Mortimer & Mowbray:—Gentlemen: My daughter having been afflicted for more than a year with the spinal disease, and having tried every remedy that was prescribed by some of our best physicians, without affording her any apparent relief, I fortunately was advised by a friend to try a bottle of "Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," which relieved her of her pain in less than twenty-four hours. I am pleased to say that since she took it she has been free from pain, and she is gradually gaining strength, which I attribute entirely to the restorative properties of this medicine. I believe if it were more extensively used, it would do more good in the removal of such diseases incident to the human family than what is usually prescribed.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
ROBERT KERR,
Principal Western F. H. School.
